

Zoning for Flood Resilience: Community Workshop

Do you live or work in the Northeastern Bronx floodplain?
Come to our workshop to learn how zoning changes can help make your neighborhood more resilient to flooding!

*Saturday, October 21
11:00 am - 1:00 pm*

*SUNY Maritime, 6 Pennyfield Avenue
Maritime Academic Center, Room 110
Bronx, NY 10465*

NYC Department of City Planning is holding an informational meeting and workshop about design and development in the floodplain.

Following a short presentation on zoning rules that were adopted after Hurricane Sandy to facilitate resilient buildings, participants will have the opportunity to share their ideas on how to shape a future update to these rules to advance resiliency in the Northeastern Bronx and across the city.

Workshop Goals:

- Learn about strategies to floodproof your home and protect it from future floods;
- Find out how zoning can promote floodproofing strategies and make neighborhoods more resilient to flooding;
- Establish urban design priorities for the Northeastern Bronx and other coastal neighborhoods;
- Help shape a future change to the special zoning rules that govern development in the floodplain.

Co-sponsored by: Bronx Community Board 10

RSVP: <https://northeastbronxresilienceworkshop.eventbrite.com>

resilientneighborhoods@planning.nyc.gov

www.nyc.gov/resilientneighborhoods

NYC
PLANNING